Monday for wealth; Tuesday for health; Wednesday the best day of all. Thursday for losses; Friday for crosses; And Saturday no luck at all.

But rather because it was not possible for all to secure the favorite Wednesday. The preponderance, however, of the liking for the noon hour is quite marked, though the late afternoon, which has become fashionable, also shows several adherents. Easter Monday, long given over to juvenile enjoyment, has only minor affairs outside of what has been planned for this important element, or at least events which interest a restricted circle, with the important exception of the 60-Couple cotillion-which will be given at Rauscher's instead of downtown, as formerly.

> A noon bride of Tuesday will be Miss Katherine Engs Bradford, second daughter of Rear Admiral and Mrs. Royal Bradford, and Mr. Howard Angell Brockway, at St. Margaret's Church. Rev. E. D. Johnson brother-in-law of the bride, will officiate, and the bride's sister, Miss Rose Mary Bradford, will be her maid of honer. Mr. Albert L. Brockway of New York will be best man. Messrs. William T. Dewart, Al-bert Nash, William Atkinson and Dr. Robert Brockway, all of New York, will be ushers. Mr. Brockway is a member of the faculty of the Peabody Conservatory, and the couple will live in Baltimore.

Another noon bride of Tuesday will be Miss Julia Blanche Nicholson, whose marriage to Mr. Morgan Washburn will take place at St. Thomas' Church. Miss Lily Washburn will be the maid of honor and Mr. Leonard L. Nicholson, jr., will be best man. Messrs. Arthur MacArthur Washburn, Henry Browner, Herbert M. Hail and Fred G. Watis will be ushers. The couple will live in Georgetown.

Miss Belia Edgerton Bateman and Mr. Charles D. Voorhis of Paterson, N. J., will be married Tuesday evening at St. John's Church, and will afterward receive at Rauscher's from 8 to 11. The recept'on however, is limited to out-of-town guests, relatives and personal friends of the couple.

The maid of honor will be a sister of the bridegroom, Miss Voorhis of Paterson. Miss Margaret Harrison, Miss Natalle Magruder, Miss Elinor Hoyt, Miss Alice Shepard, Miss Lilian Stone, Miss Feroline Perkins, Miss Saily Ovenshine and Miss Caro Green, the latter a cousin of the bride, will form the rest of the charming group of attendants.
